Grey House Publishing announces the first title in the New *Health in America Series: Diabetes in America: a Geographic & Demographic Analysis of an Epidemic

Grey House Publishing is proud to present the first title in a new Health in America series: Diabetes in America: A Geographic & Demographic Analysis of an Epidemic. With data from the National Minority Quality Forum, this new edition looks at diabetes in the nation, in every state, and in every congressional district. In addition to this unprecedented level of detail, Grey House has added value to the Forum's data with a separate section of state-by-state rankings and comparative statistics.

Colorful maps paint a striking picture of all topics – including total number and prevalence of diabetics; uninsured diabetics; hospital and ER visits of diabetics; medical costs of diabetics; and percent of diabetics with HbA1c above 7 – for all states and congressional districts. This data is further broken down – and mapped by gender, race/ethnicity, and age. All this, plus key state and congressional contacts, give researchers the tools they need to reach those who can change the course of America's diabetic epidemic.

Following the more than 1,200 pages of data by geographic region, is a final section of State Rankings and Comparative Statistics – a quick way to see how your state compares on a number of topics relating to diabetes, including prevalence, hospitalization, and diabetics with 7+ HbA1c levels.

We are excited to offer Diabetes in America-more than 1,500 pages of colorful maps, topic summaries, contact information, and comparative rankings and statistics as the first title in our new Health in America series. We look forward to working with the National Minority Forum in publishing the same detailed data on Obesity later in 2013, HIV/AIDS and Lung Cancer in 2014, Hepatitis C and Cardiovascular Disease in 2015, and Kidney Disease and Peripheral Arterial Disease in 2016.
