Sedgwick Press announces the Fifteenth Edition of the Complete Directory for People with Disabilities

Sedgwick Press, an imprint of Grey House Publishing, is proud to announce the publication of the Fifteenth Edition of the Complete Directory for People with Disabilities.

The widely acclaimed Complete Directory for People with Disabilities, with its thousands of resources, products and services, is a valuable resource for those living with disabilities, as well as those committed to empowering individuals with disabilities. All those with a disability, from vision problems to learning issues to orthopedic conditions, will find resources in this Directory to help them succeed at work, in school, and in their communities. Coverage extends from Associations that provide important support for families, individuals and professionals, to Products that enhance the lifestyle of people with disabilities.

The comprehensive Table of Contents is a guide through the over 9,000 listings contained in this rich resource, which is divided into 27 chapters and more than 100 subchapters. Among the listings are 8,748 fax numbers, 6,019 e-mail addresses and 7,313 web sites. Chapters include: Arts & Entertainment, Assistive Devices, Associations, Camps, Conferences & Shows, Education, Foundations & Funding Resources, Government Agencies, Independent Living Centers, Libraries & Research Centers, Print Media, Electronic Media, Sports, Support Groups & Hotlines, Travel & Transportation, Veteran Services, Vocational & Employment Programs, Rehabilitation Facilities and more.

Also included in the front of the book are three articles authored by DO-IT (Disabilities, Opportunities, Internetworking, and Technology), a program housed at the University of Washington that serves to increase the participation of individuals with disabilities in challenging academic programs and careers, and promotes the use of computer and networking technologies to increase independence, productivity, and participation in education and employment:

- It's Your Career: Work-Based Learning Opportunities for College Students with Disabilities
- Taking Charge: Stories of Success and Self-Determination
- Glossary of Disability-Related Terms.

This new 2007 edition also includes three indices to provide quick and easy access to the nearly 10,000 listings contained in the Directory:

- Disability & Subject Index: Organized alphabetically by hundreds of topics relevant to people with disabilities, this index groups together all listings on a particular subject (i.e., autism or language disorders), regardless of type.
- Entry Index: This alphabetical list of all entries saves time searching for an organization or group that may be repeated in several chapters.
- Geographic Index: Organizes listings alphabetically by state.

For the fastest access to information, the Directory for People with Disabilities is also available as an Online Database. Subscribers to the Online Database will have immediate access to the detailed listings contained in the print directory. With the Directory for People with Disabilities Directory Online Database, users will be able to conduct in-depth searches of the database to locate resources that meet specific search criteria, and all listings are accompanied by links to the listee's web sites and email addresses. Finding specific information and resources for those living with disabilities has never been easier. Visit www.greyhouse.com for a free search through the Online Database or call (800) 562-2139 x.118 for more information.

With current estimates of the number of disabled Americans at 50 million people and growing, the Complete Directory for People with Disabilities is more important than ever. Whether the user is a teacher, therapist, caretaker, employment counselor or facilitator or a parent, son or daughter, friend or partner of someone living with a disability, this new and up-to-date edition has much to offer, and all in one convenient volume. Instead of wasting time and energy and becoming frustrated by wading through endless web pages of questionable quality and accuracy, the user can quickly and easily access the information for which he or she is looking, simply by using the Table of Contents or comprehensive indices included in this directory. Appropriate for both the professional and the lay-person, it is an important addition to the collections of libraries large and small, public and academic, as well as resource libraries for employees across the range of disabilities-related professions.
