Grey House Publishing announces the Seventh Edition of
*The Complete Mental Health Directory

Sedgwick Press, an imprint of Grey House Publishing, is proud to announce the Seventh Edition of The Complete Mental Health Directory.

This unique reference work provides comprehensive coverage of 27 specific mental health disorders, from Adjustment Disorders to Tic Disorders, including a separate section devoted to Pediatric and Adolescent issues. In addition to specific disorder resources, this reference includes Professional Services, Publishers, Facilities, Clinical Management and Pharmaceutical Companies.

The Complete Mental Health Directory offers valuable information for those suffering from a mental condition, their families and support systems, as well as mental health professionals. It combines, in a single volume, disorder descriptions written in clear, layman's terms and a wide variety of resources, including Associations, Publications, Support Groups, Web Sites, State Agencies and Facilities. Here's where you'll find where to go and who to ask – for the most diagnosed mental health disorders in the country.

This new edition includes a chapter on Pediatric and Adolescent Issues, with an introduction on disorders diagnosed in children and teenagers, and signs and symptoms to look for. The disorder section ends with Suicide which, although not a mental disorder, is the consequence of some mental disorders, and involves a complex interaction of psychological, neurological, medical, social and family factors.

The Complete Mental Health Directory leads with a section of 27 chapters dealing with specific mental health disorders from Adjustment Disorders to Tic Disorders. Each chapter begins with a description, written in clear, accessible language and includes symptoms, prevalence and treatment options. Many disorder descriptions include information on specific syndromes within a general category; you will find, for example, Panic Disorder and Social Anxiety Disorder addressed within the Anxiety Disorder chapter. Following the descriptions are specific resources relevant to the disorder, including Associations, Books, Agencies, Periodicals, Pamphlets, Support Groups, Hot Lines, Resource Centers, Audio & Video Tapes, and Web Sites.

The second and third sections lists more than 1,000 National Associations, and Federal and State Agencies, that offer general mental health services and support for patients and their families. Listings include name, address, phone, fax, e-mail, web site and key executives. Section four contains information on Professional Support & Services. This section provides resources that support the wide range of professionals in the mental health field. Included are specific chapters on Accreditation and Quality Assurance, Associations, Conferences and Meetings, Training and Recruitment, Workbooks and Manuals, and other categories.

Publishers, the fifth section, list major publishers whose main focus is health care or mental health issues. This material is suitable for both professionals in the mental health industry as well as patients and their network community. Section six, Facilities, lists major facilities and hospitals, arranged by state, which provide treatment for persons with mental health disorders. In the seventh section, Clinical Management, you will find products and services that support the Clinical Management of mental health, including Directories and Databases, Management Companies, and Information Services that offer patient, medical, and marketing information. The eighth and final section, Pharmaceutical Companies, give an up-to-date profile of the pharmaceutical companies that manufacture drugs to treat mental health disorders. Arranged in two ways, first by companies with complete contact information, and second by medication with the condition it treats and the company that manufactures it.

Three indices are provided for easy access to all of the listings and resources. The Disorder Index is an alphabetical listing of all disorders, the Entry Index is an alphabetical listing of all entries included in the directory, and the Geographic Index organizes resources included in the directory by state.
