Grey House Publishing Canada Announces The 2019 Edition of Canadian Who's Who

Grey House Publishing Canada is excited to announce the publication of Canadian Who's Who 2019, a title that has been published since 1910 and has captured the achievements of thousands of distinguished Canadian professionals such as artists, politicians, public servants, academics, and individuals who have stood out in the world of business, law, health, literature, philanthropy, sports, and the media. Individuals must be set apart by their own merit and be recommended by another individual or chosen by the editors for inclusion.

In addition to the print edition, Canadian Who's Who is available electronically on Grey House Canada's online platform, Canada's Information Resource Centre (CIRC). The print edition of Canadian Who's Who 2019 contains the Top 10,000 entries, while the online edition gives users access to 25,000 biographies, including the Top 10,000 current listings and an additional 13,500 archived biographies dating back to 1999. Readers can access this time-honoured reference work in the format that best meets their needs.

Canadian Who's Who presents the Top 10,000 remarkable individuals who continue to shape Canada. Each listing can contain information such as date and place of birth, family history, education, career information, career-related and volunteer affiliations, creative works, honours, memberships, languages, clubs and recreation, and a variety of ways to contact the biographees. This edition continues to significantly feature information such as phone numbers and social media addresses in print.

-Continued-

Canadian Who's Who is broken down into the following categories: Biographies which are organized alphabetically and provided detailed information on the accomplishments of notable Canadians from coast to coast. In Memoriam which presents a selection of remarkable individuals, chosen from those included in the 2018 print edition, who died before the end of November 2018. This is not a complete listing, but is meant to reflect the diversity of the lives, works, and accomplishments that have shaped Canadian life for the better.

All who are interested in the achievements of Canada's most influential citizens and their significant contributions to the country and the world beyond should acquire this reference title. Both serious researchers and casual readers will find this edition to be fascinating and enlightening as ever before.

Canadian Who's Who is available in print, by subscription and online via Grey House Publishing Canada at www.greyhouse.ca. Readers can access this time-honoured reference work in the format that best meets their needs. So don't delay!
