

HOW TO USE THIS DIRECTORY

The 2023 edition of Complete Video Directory™ was produced from the Books In Print database. Volumes 1 and 2 (Entertainment) contain 75,000 entries, while Volumes 3 and 4 (Education/Special Interest) cover approximately 150,000 entries. Program titles are available from approximately 9,000 manufacturers who are listed in the Manufacturer Name Index in Volumes 2 and 4, along with addresses, phone and fax numbers, e-mail and web site addresses, and other pertinent information. The Wholesaler and Distributor Name Index provides contact information for 1,050 video wholesalers and distributors. Word-by-word alphabetizing is utilized in each section of the directory. Therefore, Man of La Mancha precedes The Manchurian Candidate and On the Waterfront appears before One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest. The articles "A," "An," and "The" are ignored in alphabetizing, as are their foreign counterparts.

Volumes 1 and 2 (Entertainment) of Complete Video Directory™ contain descriptive listings for feature films and other performing arts and entertainment events, all available to the home video market. Following these annotated entries in the Titles section are a total of twelve indexes.

If the title of a specific program is known, it may be found merely by checking the Titles section. The two major indexes are the Cast/Director Index and the Genre Index. The works of a favorite performer or director that are available on home video can easily be found by inspecting the Cast/Director Index, while a review of the Genre Index can identify the programs available in any one of the 363 entertainment genres. A separate list of genre headings is included so that users may easily reference the genres in the main index. Other indexes are useful for locating titles that have particular characteristics (Spanish Language, Series, Closed-Captioned, Awards) or those that are available in another form (Laser Videodisc, 8mm, or the International Standards PAL and SECAM).

Each entry in the title index, of course, contains complete ordering information and indicates the source of the program. These sources are listed in the Manufacturer Name Index, with addresses, phone and fax numbers, and other helpful information. Companies listed after the abbreviation "Dist(s):" may be found in the Wholesaler and Distributor Name Index.

TITLES

All Entertainment titles—whether feature films, sporting events, children's shows, foreign films, made-for-television programs and specials, silent movies, dance and opera performances, dramatized adaptations, comedy concerts, or musical performances—that are available on videocassette for the home market are listed alphabetically. Each entry contains the following information, in the order shown, when available:

Title, subtitle, volume number or total number of cassettes, original or translated title, original source, theatrical release date, subject (or subjects), hue (black-&-white, color, or colorized), running time, series title, series volume or number, closed-captioned symbol, MPAA rating, language, dubbed/ narrated/subtitled, video release date. (NOTE: Closed captioned titles are indicated by use of the service mark CC®. This registered service mark identifies programs closed-captioned by the National Captioning Institute, used by permission.)

This information is followed by contributors (actors, producer, director, screenwriters, composers, and others).

The annotation, or program description, is the next item of information, followed by major awards earned by motion pictures and other programs.

The rest of the entry presents ordering information, including the program manufacturer or license-holder; the formats and standards available; supplementary materials; preview and rental information; the manufacturer's or distributor's suggested retail price; the UPC, ISBN-13 followed by (in parentheses) the check digit for the ISBN-10, or the Library of Congress number, and the order number. When applicable, distributor(s) are listed at the end of the entry, after the abbreviation "Dist(s):" and their related price(s). "Price not set" indicates that no retail price has yet been issued by the manufacturer or distributor.

In some cases, forthcoming titles will be listed when the release date is not yet known. All data will be included for these titles, but the phrase "Date not set" will appear instead of the video release date. In other cases, popular movies may have been available in the past and will perhaps be in the future, but are not currently in active distribution. These titles will also be included, but in place of the ordering information, the phrase "withdrawn from distribution" will appear. And for those programs that have been given a special promotional sale price for a limited time, we will include all applicable information regarding the temporary price. All prices are manufacturers' or distributors' suggested retail prices at date of publication.
